

First American State Bank Customer Story Predovich & Company

For more than 20 years, Predovich & Company has been a leading certified public accounting firm in the Denver area. Serving individuals as well as large corporations, the firm provides individualized accounting and tax service to a wide variety of clientele.

“Our company prides itself on a caring attitude and friendly service,” says Dan Predovich, CPA, CFE, and owner. “Our style is to have real dialogue about real issues. First American State Bank’s service is parallel to our customer service approach in every way. Each member of the bank knows you by name. They return your phone calls promptly. They are deal-makers who are easy to deal with.”

As a CPA business, Predovich & Company consults with clients on a wide range of financial matters including banking services. “First American State Bank is not just the bank I’ve used for myself and my firm for 12 years, but it is the first place that I refer my customers needing banking assistance. The feedback I receive from them, echoed by my own experience, is that you never feel like an account number, because bank employees carefully listen to you, learn your business and resolve problems through a proactive personal approach,” said Predovich.

Both Predovich & Company and First American State Bank are headquartered in the Denver area. “A community bank like First American State Bank knows the local issues, knows the people and is an active participant in making our community a better place. That’s why it has been my choice in banking for the past 12 years,” said Predovich.
